

CHEST Continuing Medical Education

The CHEST CME Program is an educational opportunity providing the latest advances in pulmonary and critical care medicine while fulfilling CME requirements. Each specified article offers 1.0 credit hours in category 1 of the Physician's Recognition Award of the American Medical Association. The exam for each article must be successfully completed to earn credit. CME credit is available for a period of 2 years from the publication date of the CME article.

ACCP Members

Paid active ACCP members are eligible to take the CME exams free in 2004 provided our online format is used. To access each CME exam, the ACCP member must have the identification number located on the address label on the polywrap with each issue. Exams are available on the ACCP Web site, <www.chestnet.org>. Please follow the directions to obtain your CME credit online.
